

Acute Rehabilitation

The PCRMC Acute Rehabilitation team knows how important it is for patients to regain their independence, and we know that having a private room will help our patients be more comfortable while striving to do so.

In addition to the private patient rooms, Acute Rehabilitation also features a Transitional Living Mini-Suite to help accommodate those who are almost ready to return home. The Mini-Suite resembles a home environment with a private room, bathroom, small kitchen and living room, which serve to help build the patient's confidence and help determine when they are ready to go home.

We are fully committed to patient and family satisfaction. All patients/families are given an opportunity to complete a satisfaction survey upon leaving our program.
